

SECTION 1

Content

It All Starts with Content

HOW TO BECOME AN ASTRONAUT

The word "astronaut" comes from the Greek words meaning "space sailor." There are a variety of space professions and duties—from commander, pilot, mission specialist, for example—and varying qualifications for each. However, all qualifications include:

- Physical health requirements
- Height requirements
- Visual requirements
- Bachelor's degree from an accredited institution in engineering, biological science, physical science, or mathematics

Find out more about the requirements for becoming a NASA Astronaut.

"What everyone in the astronaut corps shares in common is not gender or ethnic background, but motivation, perseverance, and desire—the desire to participate in a voyage of discovery."—Ellen Ochoa

ABOUT NASA

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) is an independent agency of the executive branch of the United States federal government responsible for the civilian space program as well as aeronautics and aerospace research.

Read more about NASA

WOMEN IN SPACE

MAE JEMISON

The first African-American woman to travel in space. In September of 1992, she orbited aboard the Space Shuttle Endeavour.

Read more about Mae

ANOUSHEH ANSARI

The first Iranian woman in space and first self-funded woman to travel to the International Space Station (the fourth overall self-funded space traveler).

Read more about Anousheh

K. MEGAN MCARTHUR

The last person to be "hands on" with the Hubble Space Telescope, the only telescope designed to be serviced in space by astronauts.

Read more about Megan

Headlines

The screenshot shows a website titled "NASA ASTRONAUTS" with a blue header and a large image of a space station in orbit. The main content area is divided into two columns. The left column is titled "HOW TO BECOME AN ASTRONAUT" and contains text about the word "astronaut" and a list of requirements. The right column is titled "ABOUT NASA" and contains text about the agency. Below this is a section titled "WOMEN IN SPACE" featuring three astronaut portraits: Mae Jemison, Anousheh Ansari, and K. Megan McArthur, each with a short biography and a "Read more" link.

NASA ASTRONAUTS

nasa.gov spacecamp.com

HOW TO BECOME AN ASTRONAUT

The word "astronaut" comes from the Greek words meaning "space sailor." There are a variety of space professions and duties—from commander, pilot, mission specialist, for example—and varying qualifications for each. However, all qualifications include:

- Physical health requirements
- Height requirements
- Visual requirements
- Bachelor's degree from an accredited institution in engineering, biological science, physical science, or mathematics

Find out more about the requirements for becoming a NASA Astronaut.

"What everyone in the astronaut corps shares in common is not gender or ethnic background, but motivation, perseverance, and desire—the desire to participate in a voyage of discovery."—Ellen Ochoa

ABOUT NASA

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) is an independent agency of the executive branch of the United States federal government responsible for the civilian space program as well as aeronautics and aerospace research.

Read more about NASA

WOMEN IN SPACE

MAE JEMISON

The first African-American woman to travel in space. In September of 1992, she orbited aboard the Space Shuttle Endeavour.

Read more about Mae

ANOUSHEH ANSARI

The first Iranian woman in space and first self-funded woman to travel to the International Space Station (the fourth overall self-funded space traveler).

Read more about Anousheh

K. MEGAN MCARTHUR

The last person to be "hands on" with the Hubble Space Telescope, the only telescope designed to be serviced in space by astronauts.

Read more about Megan

This site is for educational purposes in connection with the Girl Scouts of Western Ohio. All image rights are retained solely by the original source.

Paragraphs

NASA ASTRONAUTS nasa.gov spacecamp.com

HOW TO BECOME AN ASTRONAUT

The word "astronaut" comes from the Greek words meaning "space sailor." There are a variety of space professions and duties—from commander, pilot, mission specialist, for example—and varying qualifications for each. However, all qualifications include:

- Physical health requirements
- Height requirements
- Visual requirements
- Bachelor's degree from an accredited institution in engineering, biological science, physical science, or mathematics

Find out more about the requirements for becoming a NASA Astronaut.

"What everyone in the astronaut corps shares in common is not gender or ethnic background, but motivation, perseverance, and desire—the desire to participate in a voyage of discovery."—Ellen Ochoa

ABOUT NASA

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) is an independent agency of the executive branch of the United States federal government responsible for the civilian space program as well as aeronautics and aerospace research.

Read more about NASA

WOMEN IN SPACE

MAE JEMISON	ANOUSHEH ANSARI	M. MEGAN MCARTHUR

The first African-American woman to travel in space. In September of 1992, she orbited aboard the Space Shuttle Endeavour. Read more about Mae	The first Iranian woman in space and first self-funded woman to travel to the International Space Station (the fourth overall self-funded space traveler). Read more about Anousheh	The last person to be "hands on" with the Hubble Space Telescope, the only telescope designed to be serviced in space by astronauts. Read more about Megan

This site is for educational purposes in connection with the Girl Scouts of Western Ohio. All image rights are retained solely by the original sources.

Pictures

NASA ASTRONAUTS nasa.gov spacecamp.com

HOW TO BECOME AN ASTRONAUT

The word "astronaut" comes from the Greek words meaning "space sailor." There are a variety of space professions and duties—from commander, pilot, mission specialist, for example—and varying qualifications for each. However, all qualifications include:

- Physical health requirements
- Height requirements
- Visual requirements
- Bachelor's degree from an accredited institution in engineering, biological science, physical science, or mathematics

Find out more about the requirements for becoming a NASA Astronaut.

"What everyone in the astronaut corps shares in common is not gender or ethnic background, but motivation, perseverance, and desire—the desire to participate in a voyage of discovery."—Ellen Ochoa

ABOUT NASA

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) is an independent agency of the executive branch of the United States federal government responsible for the civilian space program as well as aeronautics and aerospace research.

Read more about NASA

WOMEN IN SPACE

MAE JEMISON	ANOUSHEH ANSARI	K. MEGAN MCARTHUR

The first African-American woman to travel in space. In September of 1992, she orbited aboard the Space Shuttle Endeavour. Read more about Mae	The first Iranian woman in space and first self-funded woman to travel to the International Space Station (the fourth overall self-funded space traveler). Read more about Anousheh	The last person to be "hands on" with the Hubble Space Telescope, the only telescope designed to be serviced in space by astronauts. Read more about Megan

This site is for educational purposes in connection with the Girl Scouts of Western Ohio. All image rights are retained solely by the original sources.

Links

NASA ASTRONAUTS nasa.gov spacecamp.com

HOW TO BECOME AN ASTRONAUT

The word "astronaut" comes from the Greek words meaning "space sailor." There are a variety of space professions and duties—from commander, pilot, mission specialist, for example—and varying qualifications for each. However, all qualifications include:

- Physical health requirements
- Height requirements
- Visual requirements
- Bachelor's degree from an accredited institution in engineering, biological science, physical science, or mathematics

Find out more about the requirements for becoming a NASA Astronaut.

"What everyone in the astronaut corps shares in common is not gender or ethnic background, but motivation, perseverance, and desire—the desire to participate in a voyage of discovery."—Ellen Ochoa

ABOUT NASA

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) is an independent agency of the executive branch of the United States federal government, responsible for the civilian space program as well as aeronautics and aerospace research.

Read more about NASA

WOMEN IN SPACE

MAE JEMISON	ANOUSHEH ANSARI	H. MEGAN MCARTHUR
The first African-American woman to travel in space. In September of 1992, she orbited aboard the Space Shuttle Endeavour. Read more about Mae	The first Iranian woman in space and first self-funded woman to travel to the International Space Station (the fourth overall self-funded space traveler). Read more about Anousheh	The last person to be "hands on" with the Hubble Space Telescope, the only telescope designed to be serviced in space by astronauts. Read more about Megan

This site is for educational purposes in connection with the Girl Scouts of Western Ohio. All image rights are retained solely by the original.

HOW TO BECOME AN ASTRONAUT

The word "astronaut" comes from the Greek words meaning "space sailor." There are a variety of space professions and duties—from commander, pilot, mission specialist, for example—and varying qualifications for each. However, all qualifications include:

- Physical health requirements
- Height requirements
- Visual requirements
- Bachelor's degree from an accredited institution in engineering, biological science, physical science, or mathematics

Find out more about the requirements for becoming a NASA Astronaut.

"What everyone in the astronaut corps shares in common is not gender or ethnic background, but motivation, perseverance, and desire—the desire to participate in a voyage of discovery."—Ellen Ochoa

ABOUT NASA

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) is an independent agency of the executive branch of the United States federal government responsible for the civilian space program as well as aeronautics and aerospace research.

Read more about NASA

WOMEN IN SPACE

MAE JEMISON

The first African-American woman to travel in space. In September of 1992, she orbited aboard the Space Shuttle Endeavour.

Read more about Mae

ANOUSHEH ANSARI

The first Iranian woman in space and first self-funded woman to travel to the International Space Station (the fourth overall self-funded space traveler).

Read more about Anousheh

M. MEGAN MCARTHUR

The last person to be "hands on" with the Hubble Space Telescope, the only telescope designed to be serviced in space by astronauts.

Read more about Megan

Topic & Goal

- Topic: What your website is about
- Goal: What you hope users will get out of visiting your website

My Topic:

NASA and Space

My Goal:

To inspire interest in NASA and share women who have impacted space exploration

Example Topics

- Summer vacation
- Harry Potter
- Taylor Swift
- What do you enjoy?

Example Goals

- Summer vacation
 - GOAL: To share what you did last summer
- Harry Potter
 - GOAL: To show how exciting reading can be
- Taylor Swift
 - GOAL: To promote Taylor's latest tour

Examples

Step 1:
Pick a Topic

Step 2:
Pick a Goal

- Topic: NASA and Space
 - Goal: To inspire interest in NASA and share women who have impacted space exploration
- Topic: Summer vacation
 - Goal: To share what you did last summer
- Topic: Harry Potter
 - Goal: To show how exciting reading can be
- Topic: Taylor Swift
 - Goal: To promote Taylor's latest tour

Examples

Step 1:
Pick a Topic

Step 2:
Pick a Goal

- Topic: NASA and Space
 - Goal: To inspire interest in NASA and share women who have impacted space exploration
- Topic: Summer vacation
 - Goal: To share what you did last summer
- Topic: Harry Potter
 - Goal: To show how exciting reading can be
- Topic: Taylor Swift
 - Goal: To promote Taylor's latest tour

codepen.io

Creating a CodePen Account

Creating Content for the Web

Gather Your Content

1. Title
2. One or more paragraphs
3. Steps or another kind of list
4. Image(s)
5. Link(s) to other sites

Remember your goal!

Gather Your Content

1. Title
2. One or more paragraphs
3. Steps or another kind of list
4. Image(s)
5. Link(s) to other sites

Remember your goal!

Now it's time to give that content more structure.